12. PRINTING & STATIONERY

The department is the oldest Government department in the State, from 19th Century. The press is having some old printing machinery and documents having historical values. A gallery with title "Printing History of Goa" has been opened at Goa State Museum, Patto, Panaji and some of the old machines and documents are kept there in order to show the progress made in printing technology.

The revenue of the department have been increased by charging the cost of paper plus 25% service charges from service departments and 100% service charges from commercial departments on cost of paper. The Government is committed to modernization and expansion of the Printing Press so as to replace the outdated machinery with gradual switch over to modern printing technology. The introduction of billing system by the department on all indenting offices for supply of various printing stationery since 2003-04 has not only cut down expenditure but has also made the indenting departments to make optimum use of the stationery.
