A REPORT ON
FIFTH ECONOMIC CENSUS – 2005

DIRECTORATE OF PLANNING, STATISTICS AND EVALUATION
PANAJI - GOA

PREFACE

Lack of reliable information is one of the greatest impediments for Policy Makers and Planners. Non availability of adequate information is not mostly concerning the un-organized sector of economy though they have a sizeable impact on the Economic activity as a state and contribute substantially to the national wealth.

In this context, the first economic Census was conducted in 1977, the second in 1980, third in 1990 and fourth in 1998. The objective of the first economic Census was however limited in the sense that it covered only the non-agricultural establishments which employed at least one hired person on a fairly regular basis. But, complete enumeration of all economic censuses excluding crop production and plantation were conducted during second, third, fourth & fifth Economic Census.

The field work of the fifth Economic Census in Goa commenced in the 1st week of May 2006. The 5th Economic census covered all enterprises – agricultural & non-agricultural except those engaged in crop production & plantation. The new features introduced during the 5th Economic census was Address Slip for the Enterprise employs 10 or more workers for compilation as a directory of large enterprise. For the first time Intelligence Character Recognition (ICR) technology has been utilized for processing the data of the Economic Census.

It is hoped that the information presented herein will be of use to the Policy and decision makers. Planners, Research workers as well as academicians.

Chapter 1

Introduction

Genesis

1.1. The availability of timely and reliable statistical data is an essential pre-requisite for a sound, realistic and systematic planning of the economic development of any region, state or country.

Statistical data concerning non-agricultural sectors of our economy are presently available in respect of the organized sector comprising registered factories, mines, railways, civil aviation, state transport undertakings, major ports, banks and insurance companies etc. However, adequate data appears to be not available for the unorganized sectors of the economy. Information on unorganized sector throughout the country was, therefore, considered essential by the Union Government to provide requisite information for proper planning, development and systematic compilation of the National and Regional Accounts as well.

1.2. A. Need for Economic Census-2005

The economic census mainly provide a complete frame of enterprises for further detailed enquiries in respect of information on the nature of activity, employment, emoluments, expenditure, receipts, inventory of fixed assets etc. Due to high rates of mobility and mortality among the small enterprises, need is felt for economic censuses at regular interval to update on growth of enterprises.

Approach in different Economic Censuses.

1.3. The First Economic Census was conducted during 1977. Its coverage was limited to non- agricultural establishments (i.e. enterprises employing at least one hired worker on a regular basis) only. It overlooked the information on own-account enterprises.

1.4. The second such census was conducted during 1980 covering entire India except Assam State. The second census included all enterprise establishments and own-account enterprises as well, in both the non-agricultural and agricultural sectors, excluding crop production and plantations.

1.5. The third Economic Census was conducted in the year 1990. Under this census a complete enumeration of entrepreneurial activities, other than crop production and plantation, in rural and urban areas of the country was carried out. The information was collected in respect of location of the enterprises, description of activity of the respective enterprises, nature of operation, type of ownership, social status of its owner, power/fuel used for the activity and the number of hired persons usually working in an enterprise. The later two of the above three economic censuses were conducted along with the population censuses.

1.6. The fourth Economic Census was conducted during April to June 1998 independent of Population Census. Under this census, information was collected in respect of each entrepreneurial activity i.e. enterprises by location, household occupation, description of entrepreneurial activity, nature of operations conducted, ownership of the enterprises, social group of its owner, power/fuel used for the activity, source of finance and the number of persons usually working.

1.7. The present Economic Census-2005, the fifth in the series, has been conducted during May to November 2006. All Economic activities (agricultural and non-agricultural), except crop production and plantation were covered in this census across the State.

Tabulation of data

1.8. The data collected during the course of the present Economic Census have been tabulated and results were released as per the guidelines by the ministry of Statistics/ Planning, Government of India. The District and Taluka wise results for Goa in respect of (a) the number of enterprises (agricultural and non-agricultural) with the characteristics like those working without premises, without power/fuel, perennial or otherwise in nature, private and having higher employment etc. and (b) the number of persons usually working and hired employees in these enterprises were presented in the tables.

iv) Enterprise List Abstract (ELA)

1.11. The first form 'House List' (HL) was used for listing of all the Households and all the entrepreneurial units in each of the census villages in rural areas and in all the UFS blocks of towns/cities in urban areas.

1.12. The information under column 8-10 in House List form has been collected depending upon the type of premises, the number of enterprise in a unit / household.
